Specialties:

Family law, women issues, new immigrants issues; labor insurance and employment insurance related issues

Biography:

I mostly take on cases regarding women, families, and new immigrants during practicing law. I also serve as the legal consultant for the women's center organized by the Garden of Hope Foundation, the Good Shepherd Foundation, and other such NGOs to work with them to study the amendment of the Family Violence Prevention Act.

Being a full-time lawyer in the Taipei Branch, in addition to general civil and criminal cases, I have also dealt with foreign labor collective sexual assault cases, the Lo-Sheng Sanatorium and Hospital project, debt clearance project, advocating the amendment on employer transfer of foreign labor and other related management laws, the protection of the human rights of patients with Hansen Disease (HD), and the legislation of the Patients with HD Compensation Act and the Consumer Debts Clearance Act.
