Autobiography:

I have passed the Senior General Administrative Staff Examination for Legal Department, have passed the Senior Professional and Technical Personnel Examination for Lawyers, have passed the Civil Service Special Examination for Judicial Personnel Grade 1, and have completed the 26th Instruction Course for Judgeship. I have served as a District Court Judge for the Hualien, Hsinchu, and Banqiao District Courts, and have judged criminal, juvenile, civil, and civil administration cases. From 1996 to June 1999, I was a full-time advisor for the Judges and Prosecutors Training Institute. Starting in January 2002, I served as a judge for the Taipei High Administrative Court, Intellectual Property Court, and Supreme Administrative Court. In September 2013, I became director of the Department of Administrative Litigation and Discipline, a position I hold to this day. My publications include “A Study of Patent Administrative Litigation” (2005); “A Judicial Review of Patent Validity Disputes” (2014); “New System of Trade and Patent Administrative Litigation Special Report,” Technology Law Review, Vol. 3 No. 1 (2006); and “Disputed Issues in Deciding the Validity of Intellectual Property Rights: A Focus on Issue Preclusion,” Technology Law Review, Vol. 6 No. 2 (2009).
