

陳俊翰

Chun-Han Chen

- Postdoctoral Fellow,
Institutum Iurisprudentiae,
Academia Sinica, Taiwan

EDUCATION

- S.J.D., Michigan University
- LL.M., Harvard University
- LL.M., National Taiwan University
- B.B.A. in Accounting and LL.B.,
National Taiwan University (double degree)

AREAS OF EXPERTISE

International law, comparative law, International Bill of Human Rights, policy and laws on persons with disabilities

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

- 2023 - present Member of the 17th Human Rights Protection and Promotion Committee, Executive Yuan
- 2023 - present Representative of the 7th Committee for the Promotion of the Rights of. Persons with Disabilities, Kaohsiung City
- 2023 - present Expert on the 5th Committee for the Promotion of the Rights of. Persons with Disabilities, Taipei City
- 2021 - present Lecturer on human rights education, Ministry of Education
- 2016 - present Lecturer on The Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, Social and Family Affairs Administration, Ministry of Health and Welfare
- 2021 - 2022 Visiting Research Fellow, Berkeley Center on Comparative Equity & Anti-Discrimination Law, University of California, Berkeley
- 2015 - 2016 Research Fellow, Project on the Promotion of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, Social and Family Affairs Administration, Ministry of Health and Welfare
- 2013 - 2014 Visiting Research Fellow, East Asian Legal Studies Program at Harvard University
- 2009 - 2012 Member of the Examination Rights for Persons with Disabilities Improvement Committee, Examination Yuan

BIOGRAPHY

Over the past decade or so, Chun-Han devoted himself into voicing and advocating for the rights of persons with disabilities, hoping to promote full implementation of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities in Taiwan. Eight years of studying abroad led me to the realization that a nation's policy, systems, and laws and regulations can bring about great impacts on socially vulnerable groups, especially on persons with disabilities. He hopes that one day in the future, the rights of persons with disabilities in Taiwan can be protected, so to make Taiwan a more equal, diverse, and inclusive place.